

Forests keep disappearing at an alarming rate

Although replanting activity is strong (China), forest loss is much larger than the gain

Natural factors (climate change, pests), legal and logistic constraints all contribute to the increasing scarcity of commercial forests

World-wide net change in forest area

